1.5 Essay Questions

1) What is common law and why is it important?

Answer: England's common law was only a set of unwritten regulations. Common law emanated from various court decisions. Today, legislative enactments have greatly expanded the common law.

Page Ref: 7-8

Objective: Explain the importance of precedent.

Level: Basic

2) Explain the difficulties which constitutes justice.

Answer: The concept of "justice" is commonly used but seldom defined. There are no bright line rules as to what constitutes "justice." It is a subjective concept and has different meanings in different situations. We rely on our court systems to make decisions that implement our concept of justice. Whether justice is served in a case depends upon the facts of the case, the law involved in the case. It is a concept that relates to our ideas about morality or what is right and what is wrong. It is via our laws that we most often reflect our concept of justice.

Page Ref: 5-8

Objective: Describe what constitutes justice. Explain the concept of "rule of law."

Level: Basic

3) What portions of the Bill of Rights are of particular significance to the administration of justice?

Answer: Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Eighth Amendments are most significant in the administration of justice.

Objective: Describe the impact of the Bill of Rights on criminal procedure.

Level: Intermediate

4) Describe characteristics of the American court system.

Answer: The first characteristic is that the court system in the United States is a dual system with both federal and state courts. The second characteristic is that it performs its duties with little or no supervision. The third feature of our court system is the specialization that occurs primarily at the state and local levels. A fourth characteristic of our court system is that generally the courts perform either trial or appellate functions. The fifth characteristic of the American court system is the organization of state and federal courts into geographic areas.

Objective: Outline the structure of the court system, including the responsibilities and jurisdictions of each level.

Level: Intermediate

5) What are the typical goals of a state attorney general's office?

Answer: They are to seek to control and eliminate organized crime in the State, to publish and distribute a compilation of the state laws relating to crimes and criminal law enforcement that are of general interest to peace officers, to operate the state's teletype and law enforcement telecommunications systems, and to promote training and professionalism of peace officers.

Objective: Describe criminal law administration processes.

Level: Basic

6) What is the primary duty of a prosecutor?

Answer: In a criminal prosecution, it is not that the prosecutor shall win a case, but that justice shall be done. As such, he/she (the prosecutor) is in a peculiar and very definite sense the servant of the law, the twofold aim of which is that guilt shall not escape or innocence suffers.

Objective: Describe criminal law administration processes.

Level: Intermediate

7) How did the concept of trial by jury develop?

Answer: In England, 12 men were named to an "accusatory jury"; they would act as an advisory body to the King. The English model was the forerunner of our modern grand jury. Over time, the jury's actions expanded to determine an accused's guilt or innocence.

Objective: Explain the importance of precedent.

Level: Intermediate

8) What is meant by the Bill of Rights?

Answer: That refers to the first 10 Amendments to the Constitution. Excessive taxation of the colonies by England and other forms of oppression led the Founding Fathers to draft bills of rights for the citizen.

Objective: Describe the impact of the Bill of Rights on criminal procedure.

Level: Basic

9) What is the major difference between the trial courts and the appellate courts?

Answer: Trial courts conduct trials and appellate courts entertain appeals. An appellate court can grant a new trial, but cannot conduct it itself. Once a valid judgment is entered by the trial court, and it is appealed, the trial court is divested of the power to make further findings of fact.

Objective: Outline the structure of the court system, including the responsibilities and jurisdictions of each level.

Level: Intermediate

10) Explain the difference between venue and jurisdiction.

Answer: Venue refers to the geographic area in which a case may be heard. Jurisdiction refers to the power of a court to hear certain types of cases.

Objective: Outline the structure of the court system, including the responsibilities and jurisdictions of each level.

Level: Intermediate

11) What is a legal citation and why is that necessary for our understanding?

Answer: The citation is the reference for an appellate opinion in a published book. For example, 384 U.S. 436 is the citation for Miranda v. Arizona, decided by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1966. That means that the opinion is found in volume 384 of the U.S. Reports, beginning on page 436. Citations are very important because they refer judges and attorneys to prior appellate opinions which serve as a guideline for current trial court rulings and additional appellate rulings. Stare decisis is a Latin term which means that a court is required to follow a certain line of thinking, or precedent, if the facts in the present case are exactly the same.
